HARRY M. KNISELY,

A Native of Bedford County, Killed In a Wreck Near Altoona

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The Train, While Going at a High Rate of Speed, Left the Rails—The Engineer Also Lost His Life.

St. Louis mail on the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked while speeding through the Pack Saddle, 60 miles west of Altoona, Wednesday morning. The train was behind time and while going at a high rate of speed left the rails, plowing into the hill at the side of the track. The engine swerved around and plunged over the embankment into the Conemaugh river, 100 feet below. The wreck cost the lives of two men and three others were injured, though not seriously. The killed are:

John Kammerling, engineer, of 2517 Broad street, Altoona.
Harry M. Knisely, fireman, of 1113 Eighteenth street, Altoona.

The injured are:

J. S. Miles, mail clerk, of Harrisburg.
H. H. Wert, mail clerk, of Harrisburg.
I. R. Maurer, mail clerk, of Harrisburg.

Harry M. Knisely, the unfortunate fireman, was born in Kimmell township, Bedford county, July 12, 1877, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Knisely, who are still living. In January, 1899, he entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company as a fireman on the Pittsburg division, being a trusted and efficient employee ever since. In 1898 he was married to Miss Ada Wright, who, with three children, Willard, Homer and Grace, survives him. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Zella Claar, of Bedford county, and six brothers, William B., a fireman, residing in Altoona, and Ira, Sewell, David, Clarence and Steward, of this county. He was a member of the Knights of Malta and of the Relief association. He was an excellent young man and had a wide circle of friends.

Engineer Kemmerling was a native of Blair county.

Refused to Pay Toll.

On July 30 William H. Diehl, of Colerain township, was arrested on the charge of wilfully obstructing the public highway. Toll-gatherer William H. Stiffler, who has charge of the Bedford and Chambersburg Turnpike company's gate, just below town, is the prosecutor. He alleges that on July 26 Mr. Diehl, who was on his way to Bedford, refused to pay toll, that when the pole was "pulled" on him other travelers were detained and when the pole was raised to let them pass Mr. Diehl went with them. These maneuvers were repeated when Mr. Diehl returned home. On Wednesday Mr. Diehl entered bail for his appearance at court. Hon. J. M. Reynolds is counsel for defendant and Attorney F. E. Colvin for plaintiff.

Smith vs. Beegle.

On Wednesday Francis Beegle and son Joseph, of Colerain township, who are charged by their neighbor, Samuel S. Smith, with wilfully and maliciously destroying the latter's fence, was given a hearing before 'Squire Ritchey and the defendants were bound over for court. District Attorney A. L. Little looked after the interests of the prosecutor and Attorney E. M. Pennell represented the other side. Mr. Beegle was hauling telegraph poles and in making a short turn knocked the fence down. It is claimed he moved it further in on plaintiff's land when he put it up again.

Family Reunion.

An enjoyable family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Lessig on Sunday, when her sons and daughters, with their wives and husbands and children, gathered at the old homestead, on East Penn street. A sumptuous dinner was served at noon and the afternoon was spent in conversation. Those present were W. M. Lessig, wife and two children, John Lessig, J. W. Lessig and daughter, George Eicholtz, wife and four sons, A. C. Lessig, wife and son, H. R. Hershberger, wife and three children, of Bedford; Dr. H. C. Lessig and three children, of Rainsburg; C. H. Lessig and wife, of Alameda, Cal.; W. S. Painter, wife and two children, of Hopewell.

Married on Public Highway.

William Fletcher, Jr., son of William Fletcher, a prominent farmer of near Pratt, this county, and Miss Jessie Baxter, each about nineteen years of age, were married under a tree on the public highway at the state line, near Pratt, by Rev. John Bennett, of Artemas, Pa., with whom they had previously arranged to meet them. The wedding was hurried on account of the objections made to the match by relatives.—Cumberland News.

Musicale This Evening.

This evening the ladies of St. James' Protestant Episcopal church will give a musicale at the home of William Hartley, on South Richard street. A rare treat is in store for those who attend. Talented musicians of Bedford and from abroad will take part in the programme. The proceeds will go toward paying for repairs to the church, fence and rectory. The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock.

Marriage Licenses.

Eli G. Chamberlain and Jeannette Chaney, of Broad Top township.

Jeremiah R. Seese and Clara E. Rogers, of West St. Clair township.

Easton Johnson and Dalla Coffman, of Hopewell township.

Charles R. Fockler, of Saxton, and Viola B. Harbaugh, of Everett.

William Rollins Adams and Fannie, Viola Fleegle, of Ryot.

John Sheridan Smith, of West St. Clair township, and Edna M. Wareing of East St. Clair township.

Southampton Teachers.

The directors of Southampton township have elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: Flintstone Creek, Top Fetters; Prosperity, Ada Ritchey; Gordon, Barbara E. Trail; Pine Lick, Bessie Beck; Collins, Walter Smith; Blues Gap, E. W. Lashley; Stony Lick, Florence E. Redinger; Pleasant Valley, Walnut Grove, Browning, Chaneysville and Mt. Zion are unsupplied.

A SCORE SHOT

In Battle Between Strikers and Policemen —Troops Called Out.

A despatch from Shenandoah, July 30, says: "In a bloody battle between riotous strikers and policemen this evening Joseph Beddal, a leading merchant and a nephew of Sheriff Beddal, was clubbed to death, two policemen were shot, one probably fatally, and upward of a score of the rioting strikers, all foreigners, were shot, some of whom may die.

"Sheriff Beddal arrived from Pottsville at 9 45 with a posse of deputies. He has taken up his headquarters at the Ferguson hotel, which is surrounded by several thousand men. He has asked Governor Stone to send militia here, and two regiments of the Third brigade, under command of General Gobin, will be on duty here to-morrow."

HARRISBURG, July 30—The Eighth and Twelfth regiments of the Third brigade and the Governor's Troop have been ordered to proceed to Harrisburg. The order was issued by Adjutant General Stewart, after a consultation with General Gobin over the reports from Shenandoah. Deputy Sheriff Beddal asked for troops at once, saying murder and bloodshed had already occurred, and another clash between the strikers and police might take place at any moment.

Governor Stone has been informed of the critical situation and is on his way to Harrisburg from the Adirondacks. He will arrive some time tomorrow afternoon and take such further measures as may be necessary to quell the disorder.

Mrs. Lahanna Wendell.

Mrs. Lahanna Wendell died at the home of her daughter, Mrs G. W. Beckley, of Ryot, on July 15. She was aged eighty-two years, two months and eight days. The deceased was born in Somerset county and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gloss. Mrs. Tobias Grove, of Somerset county, is the only surviving sister. She was the mother of eight children, forty-six grandchildren and forty-three great grandchildren. The surviving children are Mrs. G. W. Beckley, of Ryot; Mrs. B. F. Tucker, of Schellsburg; Mrs. William Black, Job Wendell and Michael Wendell, of Pleasantville; Jacob Wendell and Ewalt Wendell, of New Paris. A son, John Wendell, died several years ago. Her husband, Michael Wendell, preceded her in death, June 16, 1886. She became a member of the Lutheran church prior to her marriage, which occurred in 1841. The funeral services were conducted by the Lutheran minister of Schellsburg. Interment was made in the Evangelical cemetery at New Paris.

Lewis Sides.

The Meyersdale Commercial contains the following obituary of a well known citizen of this county: "Lewis Sides, a brother of Christian Sides, of town, died at his residence near Buena Vista, Bedford county, Tuesday, July 8, of a complication of diseases. He leaves an affectionate wife, a son and daughter. He was aged sixty-one years and three months. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Christian, of Meyersdale; John, of Hyndman; Jacob, of Mann's Choice; Valentine, of this county, residing near West End; Elizabeth, now Mrs. Fochtman, of Bedford county. Mr. Sides was a most excellent Christian gentleman, who was held in the highest esteem by his neighbors and friends. He was a member of the Reformed church and secretary of the school board of his district for many years. In politics he was a Democrat. His remains were interred in Dry Ridge cemetery, his pastor, Rev. Landis, officiating."

Andrew Earlenbaugh.

Andrew Earlenbaugh died at his home in Martinsburg on Monday. Mr. Earlenbaugh was born at Baker's Summit on August 5, 1831. He was married to Miss Nancy Rice. November 30, 1853. The deceased followed agricultural pursuits the greater portion of his life. He leaves to survive him his widow and these children: Henry R and Jeremiah, of Altoona; Levi R., of Sunbrook; David R. and Mrs. John Stewart, of Martinsburg.

Mrs. Andrew Kennell.

Mrs. Andrew Kennell, of Southampton township, died on July 21. The deceased was fifty-eight years old. Her maiden name was Ellen Baughman. She was the mother of sixteen children, thirteen of whom are still living.—Exchange.

New Positions for Operators.

On Monday, Night Train Dispatcher D. C. Hershiser went to Cumberland to accept the position of day train dispatcher on the Cumberland and West Virginia Central railroad. Operator John Clark, of Bedford, now fills the position made vacant by Mr. Hershiser's resignation; Benjamin Hackett, of Cumberland, has succeeded Mr. Clark and H. I. Pierson, Mr. Hackett. All are popular and efficient operators and will no doubt fill their respective positions in a praiseworthy manner.

A Young Couple.

Probably the youngest couple that ever procured a marriage license in Bedford are Charles R. Fockler, of Saxton, and Viola B. Harbaugh, of Everett, who secured the coveted paper from Deputy-Prothonotary Blackburn on Monday. The groom is a son of William H. Fockler and is eighteen years old. The bride is a daughter of James V. Harbaugh and is only fifteen years of age. Mr. Fockler and Miss Harbaugh were united in marriage by 'Squire G. W. Richey, of Everett, on Monday.

A Fatal Fall.

Clarence, the seven-year-old son of Postmaster W. H. Mowry, of Buffalo Mills, was fatally injured Tuesday afternoon. The boy climbed on a wagon loaded with shingles and after the team started attempted to get off the moving vehicle when he fell to the ground. One of the wheels passed over his breast, injuring him so seriously that he died Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock.

A P. M. R. Rumor.

An attempt is being made to resuscitate the Midland railroad project. John G. McGraw, of Kladder station, was at Philadelphia and Bedford recently in the interest of the undertaking.—Hollidaysburg Register.

WHERE WHEAT IS KING.

Uncle Sam's Great Grain Fields In the Northwest.

PROSPEROUS FARMERS.

Description of the "Bad Lands" of the Dakotas and the Pine Tree Forests of Minnesota—Good Advice.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN, July 26.

DEAR EDITOR GAZETTE:—It can well be said without fear of contradiction, backed up as it is by the statements of a large number of representative farmers and ranchers of this and adjacent states, that I had an opportunity to interview, as well as by my own observations, that never before in the history of this country has there been such prosperity among the farmers in this section as there is at the present time. The reports are all alike and differ only as to the acreage and the amount of the yield; otherwise they speak as a unit of the wonderful advance to financial independence of the man with the plow.

Several years ago a large per centage of the farms of this great wheat country were either mortgaged for one-half or, in many cases, to their full value, the farmer could not borrow money, crops were not of the best and many of the farmers were in desperate circumstances. Banks would not make loans under any consideration. Mortgages at that time were held mostly by eastern people and either through good business tact on their part or forced to leniency by the knowledge of the exact condition, they did not foreclose, but gave the farmers a chance and the result proved their good sense in doing so. What are the facts to-day? All this has been changed. Within the past two years mortgages have been lifted, comfortable homes and barns built, new and costly machinery bought and the majority of the farmers hereabout have not only breathed the air of financial freedom but have money to loan the very banks that they pleaded to for a loan but so short a time ago. It is a fact that the western banks are now shipping their surplus cash to the east for investment. Loans are being made to-day in this city and throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas for from 4 to 6 per cent., something unheard of before. For years the farmer staggered under the weight of from 8 to 12 per cent. and it was little wonder that he was only too ready and willing to grasp at anything that would turn up besides the sod to help him throw off this yoke of mortgage slavery which was slowly but surely grinding out his life and his hope. Their hopes have been fulfilled and prayers answered, but it was by the turning up of the sod, combined with their devotion to duty and good citizenship, and aided by divine providence, which matured the bountiful harvests that have in these few years made them a happy and contented people.

Wheat is king up here. In passing through Minnesota at this time one can see thousands of acres of this golden grain ready for the reaper; it is no uncommon sight to see from 200 to 500 acre fields. It is what they call spring wheat. Our Pennsylvania farmers raise winter wheat. The difference is but slight. The grain of the spring wheat is not so solid or firm as the winter wheat and the sowing is done some time between March 15 and April 1, depending, of course, to a great extent, upon the state of the weather. Thus planted it grows very rapidly, being fully matured about August 1. At this time harvesting has begun in earnest and the average yield for this state is estimated at 22 bushels to the acre; in some of the western counties and southern and eastern parts of the Dakotas it will yield as high as 40 bushels. Oats cutting, which also will be in progress shortly, is expected to average 40 to 50 bushels and barley and flax about the same, thus making all grains far above the average of any crop for years. A gentleman from Southern Iowa was telling me to-day that last year his farm yielded 50 bushels of corn to the acre and that he received 62 cents for it right at his home railway station. This year he expects equally as large a crop and says that everything looks fine in his neighborhood and that money is plentiful. He said: "I left a mill for the farm two years ago and I consider myself a very lucky man, for farming has proved a great success with me."

The price of land here varies, of course, as to the locality and quality of the soil. In the southern half and western part of this state it sells at from $20 to $50 per acre and in the northern, which is thinly settled and not so desirable, it can be bought as low as $5. Good farming land in the Dakotas can be had for from $8 to $20 and almost any kind of terms can be made to pay for it. A small payment of a few hundred dollars cash down and the balance in yearly payments and in some places what are called "crop payments" are taken, that is, a certain share of the crops you raise is given to the holder of the mortgage.

There is a strip of land which commences in the central west of South Dakota and extends in a northerly direction through North Dakota and part of British America which is known as the "Bad Lands." Its name indicates just what it is, for the land is about as bad as it could possibly be. It consists of hills, surmounted by high peaks, perfectly bare of vegetation, with the exception of scrub trees of tamarack. Between these hills are valleys, upon which there is just enough sandy soil to sustain a thin growth of grass, and these valleys are used for grazing cattle, although how they thrive upon such scanty fare is a mystery to most cattle men. Outside of these herds of cattle a more desolate country could not be imagined. Bordering upon these "Bad Lands" is a territory, which was formerly fair farming country, but a number of years ago some grain men plowed it for wheat and raised five crops in succession, which so burned out the soil that now it will hardly produce grass enough to sustain the one cow and one horse or mule of the numbers of poor Russian peasants, who have taken up this land and are now trying to eke out a living there. These people live in sod houses, or dug-outs, which are divided into a kitchen and a living room, with but a few holes in the side of the house for ventilation and a hole in the top to allow the smoke to pass out. There is an extension to these houses beyond the kitchen, which is the home of the horse, cow, chickens or any other animals which they may be fortunate enough to possess. These people do not speak English, but their children, who are numerous, will, and no doubt some day will be heard from in affairs of state and nation. You can imagine the sanitary condition of these so-called homes, and still the death rate is but one to every 169 inhabitants, thus speaking well for the salubrity of this climate. Why they do not move to better lands is explained perhaps by their ignorance or fear of losing the good thing (?) they think they have already gained.

Several weeks ago I had the pleasure of taking a trip to the city of Duluth, at the extreme head of Lake Superior, and in going, as well as returning, went through some of the great pine forests of Northern Minnesota. For a distance of 50 miles north of this city the land is of a rolling nature, beautiful farms appearing on either side of the railroad; but as one proceeds further northward it is more hilly and then you whirl rapidly through the pine country. The timber has been cut out near the railroads, but back country, a half mile or so, there is still plenty of the white pine left, enough to last for years to come. Most of the trees are from 10 to 18 inches in thickness and perhaps 75 to 150 feet high and grow but a couple of feet apart and are as straight as an arrow. So you can see what dense forests these trees make, aided as they are, by the thickly growing laurel and huckleberry bushes. It is no wonder they say it is hard work to cut a way through this timber country. We passed a number of saw-mills and lumber-camps toward evening and the lumber "Jackies," as they are called, were sitting in front of their log cabins, smoking and seemingly as contented as the millionaire in his Chicago mansion, for whom they are toiling their lives away in order to create greater wealth for a man who has long since got beyond the spending of his princely income, derived from the sweat of their brow.

In a number of places where the timber had been cut out Italian and Russian emigrant farmers were laboring to make a home and had built a sort of shanty, but even that sounds like too high-toned a name for it. Having somehow managed to pull or burn out the stumps of the trees, they had, with the aid of oxen and a primitive plow, made a fair start at farming. Men, women and children were all at work in the field and as the soil is quite productive some day they will develop it into a good farm. Any people who have the nerve to carve a farm out of such a wilderness certainly deserve success. The great redeeming feature of these forests is that lakes are numerous in which bass, pike and other fish abound and wild game is plentiful, thus making it a great resort for sportsmen in season.

Now, before closing this letter, I would like to give some advice to our Bedford county farmer boys. Stick to farming, for it is the most independent life in the world to-day. Do not drift to the large cities, where the majority of you will find nothing but work and misery. But I hear you say, Look at so and so; he has become great and rich. Yes! I admit the one you speak about has been successful, but how many thousand failures are there of which you have heard nothing? You always hear of successes in life but seldom of failures. Turn your mind to scientific farming; do not try to sow everything and reap very little of anything, but make a specialty of a few grains and give them your entire attention and there is no doubt of your success. If you will not remain on the old homestead, then come up here and I do not believe you will ever regret it, but at all events, stick to farming.

B. F. SHUCK.

Escaped Through Trap-Door.

Late Saturday night Mrs. Margaret Kerstetter discovered that a burglar was in the attic of her home on South Juliana street. She quickly bolted the door and kept him a prisoner until her son, Thomas Kerstetter, came home. When he arrived Mr. Kerstetter got a revolver and, accompanied by William Suters, started for the intruder. When the thief heard them coming he retreated through the trap-door to the roof, thence to the roof of the porch and from there jumped to the ground and made his escape. He did not secure any plunder. The same night some scoundrel stole $8 from the pocket of Edward Wagner's trousers and $1 from the clothes of William Lymore, both of whom are bell boys at the Springs.

On the Diamond.

The Bedford baseball club defeated the Earlston nine on the Bedford Springs meadow Friday afternoon by the score of 16 to 3. Pitcher Bruce Stambaugh and Catcher Harry Stambaugh were in the points for Bedford and were invincible. Wesley Stambaugh pitched and Maurice Irvine caught in the last inning. The local team made three double plays. Irvine hit out a home run. The visitors played a plucky game, but were outclassed. To-day our boys expect to go to Dudley to "cross bats" with the strong nine at that place. The return game will likely be played here next Friday. Everett and Bedford will meet on the former's ground some day next week. The home team has struck its pace and is putting up a strong game.

An Immense Orchard.

The Tonoloway Orchard company has been formed and the work of planting an orchard of winter apples comprising 800 acres along Tonoloway Ridge, near Hancock, Md., has been begun. The soil is especially adapted to apple culture and the principal farms in the valley were bought up by the company, of which H. E. Vandeman, who established the division of pomology, United States department of agriculture, is president. The orchard will be one of the largest in America. Among those interested are Prof. E. P. Sondstin, Maryland Agricultural college; F. L. Warman, a civil engineer of the war department; Scott Nesbitt, disbursing officer of the United States coast and geodetic survey, and Edmund P. Cahill, of Hancock.

A WEEK'S HISTORY,

Happenings of the Past Seven Days.

THE IMPORTANT EVENTS

Culled From All Quarters of the Globe and Condensed For Busy Readers—News Items.

The Johnstown Elks are holding a carnival and street fair this week.

On Tuesday Louis Osterbach was struck dead by lightning at West Penn.

Census statistics show that Pennsylvania stands sixth in the production of tobacco.

Ernst Ruhmer, a German inventor, has succeeded in telephoning more than four miles with a wireless apparatus.

The citizens of Baltimore have decided to erect a memorial arch in commemoration of the deeds of Admiral Winfield Scott Schley.

The wages of the employees of the transportation department of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg Railway company have been increased ten per cent.

Hon. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, is spending some time in the New England states. Everywhere the distinguished Democrat goes he is given a warm welcome.

One man was killed and two others seriously injured as a result of a row at the Republican primary election in Camden, N. J., Monday night. One of the wounded men is Joe Goddard, the pugilist.

P. L. Kimberly and Frank Buhl, of Sharon, have purchased valuable ore lands in Iron county, Utah. The deal is one of the largest in iron ever made in this country, the consideration being $2,250,000.

The York county commissioners, in a sworn statement filed in court on Tuesday, admit that they were guilty of criminal negligence and that there is a treasury deficiency for the year of $115,000.

Six firemen were injured and a property loss of $300,000 sustained by a fire on Tuesday in Pittsburg, which wrecked De Noon Brothers' paint and varnish establishment and Stewart Brothers' rubber goods house.

At Back Creek, W. Va., on Saturday Robert Ridgeway, a one-legged, one-eyed Confederate veteran, and David Weaver, a farmer, fought a duel with knives. Both men were badly wounded, Weaver probably fatally.

Charles Weyley on Saturday shot and killed Josephine Sheridan at her home in Springfield, Mo., and then shot and killed himself. Jealousy probably prompted the act. Up to a month ago they had been engaged to be married.

Sunday night the house of S. P. Rookmohr, of Volant, was set on fire by a lamp exploding. The members of the family were aroused by their poll parrot and escaped, but in the excitement the bird was forgotten and was burned to death.

While Benjamin Sauerwine, of near Saegersville, was digging post holes for a fence on Monday he unearthed a box containing $3,400, in notes and coin. Some of the bills were quite mouldy and the money had evidently been buried a long time.

Aboard one of the passenger trains on the main line of the Reading railroad which passed through Reading on Saturday there were sixteen newly married couples. They came from Williamsport, Shamokin, Mahanoy City and Pottsville and were on their honeymoon.

President Roosevelt has approved the findings of the court-martial in the case of Maj. E. S. Glenn, Fifth Infantry, and Lieut. Julian P. Gaujot, Tenth Cavalry, convicted of applying the "water cure" and sentenced to suspension and fine, and has disapproved the acquittal of Lieut. Norman G. Cook, Philippine Scouts, tried for ordering three natives to be shot by Maccabebes.

At San Francisco Friday night Jim Jeffries, the heavy weight champion pugilist of the world, knocked out Bob Fitzimmons in the eighth round. Up to that time "Fitz" had been severely punishing his opponent and giving a remarkable exhibition of skill and strength for a man of his age. Some sporting writers claim the fight was a fake. The principals and their backers declare it was "on the square."

An earthquake shock, which was general over portions of Nebraska, Western Iowa and South Dakota, occurred shortly after noon on Monday. The disturbances were felt at a large number of towns in the three states and lasted from ten to fifteen seconds. At some of the places dishes were hurled from shelves, glass in windows was broken and some walls were cracked. The people were badly frightened. No serious damage was done.

Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker, Quay's cousin and candidate for governor, has resigned as a member of Court No. 2, of the Common Pleas, Philadelphia, and will go on the stump and tell the people about the "real greatness" of Boss Quay, who "fitly represents the people of Pennsylvania for the credit of the state of which he (Quay) is the foremost representative," and he will no doubt speak of the purity of the politics of the state which "has no ills that are worthy of mention."

Caused by Open Lamp.

The official investigation into the Rolling Mill mine disaster at Johnstown ended on Monday afternoon, when the jury impaneled to conduct an inquest rendered a verdict based on the testimony taken last week. The verdict finds only on the death of one of the 112 victims—that of Lewandrowski. His case was selected as typical of the balance, as evidently all were due to the same cause. The finding is as follows:

We, the jury, find that Gustav Lewandrowski came to his death as the result of a gas explosion occurring in the Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company, of Johnstown, Cambria county, Pennsylvania, on the 10th day of July, 1902; that said explosion was caused by some person, or persons, to the jury unknown, taking into room No. 2, sixth right heading, where gas was known to exist, an open lamp, and using the same in direct violation of the mine rules and regulations of the Cambria Steel company.

John Taylor Encampment Reinstituted.

A special session of the grand encampment, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Pennsylvania, was held at Six Mile Run on Tuesday for the purpose of reinstituting John Taylor Encampment No. 315. Grand Patriarch F. C. E. Milhouse, of Pottstown, was assisted by Deputy Grand Masters W. S. Lysinger, of Bedford, and J. B. Andrews, of Altoona; Acting Grand High Priest C. W. Gibbony, of Saxton; Grand Senior Warden F. B. Berkheimer and Grand Treasurer Frank Hoover, of Woodbury; Grand Marshal James Blackburn, Grand Inside Sentinel J. F. McGahan and Grand Outside Sentinel H. G. Huff, of Saxton. Forty-nine candidates were admitted and the following officers were elected and installed: Chief patriarch, J. T. McIntyre; high priest, J. W. Knight; senior warden, J. A. Evans; scribe, J. E. Shuke; treasurer, W. A. Whited; junior warden, Daniel Dempsey; trustees, Jerry Cutchall, Charles Cottle, Alexander Taylor; outside sentinel, A. J. Himes; inside sentinel, Charles Zimmerman; guide, R. W. E. Salkeld; first watch, Granville Simmons; second watch, J. C. McIntyre; third watch, Roy Shaffer; fourth watch, John Smith; first guard to tent, Samuel Abbott; second guard to tent, C. A. Chamberlain. After the session closed Rebekah Lodge, of Six Mile Run, served delicious ice cream and cake to the visiting and local Odd Fellows. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

Bedford Springs Bubbles.

The following paragraphs are copied from a Bedford Springs letter published in Sunday's Pittsburg Press:

"Saturday evening Manager Bemis inaugurated a series of Wednesday and Saturday evening informal dances, which, aside from the patrons of Bedford Springs, have become very popular with the 'smart young set' of historic Bedford town, many of whom are in regular weekly attendance. There is good music from 8 to 11:30 o'clock and the spacious ball-room of the Bedford Springs hotel is gay with the merry devotees of Terpsichore.

"Samuel Bancroft, Jr., of Wilmington, Del., vice-president of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain railroad, arrived on Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Bancroft, in his private car, and will remain until early in September. Besides being prominently identified with the social, public and business life of his native city, Mr. Bancroft has large interests at Bedford. He is chairman of the Bedford Springs Co., Ltd., and half owner of the Bedford Springs property."

B. & O. Surveying Connecting Link.

A despatch from Handcock, Md., says that on Sunday afternoon a party of 15 engineers, under D. J. Scott, completed a topographical survey of the Big Tonoloway creek from its source, in the Sideling Hill mountains, to its mouth, at Hancock, a distance of 22 miles. The corps is employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and gave out information to the effect that the Baltimore & Ohio contemplates building a double track road from its main line at Hancock to connect with the Pennsylvania at Everett, following the Big Tonoloway creek from Emmaville, Pa. John T. Whistler, in charge of another corps, is making the topographical survey from Emmaville to Everett. The work is being pushed and the engineers work on Sundays.

Host of Girl Suicides.

A despatch from Tacoma, Wash., July 28, says: "Oriental advices describe an appalling epidemic of suicides of young women in Southern China. The usual method is for six or eight girls to tie themselves together and deliberately walk into a deep river. Six hundred girls have committed suicide in this manner. The wholesale suicides have caused much alarm and the authorities are exerting strict measures to prevent them. They are most numerous in Kwang Tung, around Canton, and on the Island of Hainan, in Kwang Tung. There was a dearth of rain for months, despite daily prayers. Many girls believed the gods had forsaken them, and therefore ended their existence. The famine in Hainan has caused girls to be sold into slavery. Many sought death in the manner described rather than become slaves."

SENATOR COCKRELL

Believes That the Democrats Will Win in 1904—Tariff Revision—The Situation In the Philippines.

Special Correspondence of THE GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, has spent some time in Washington during the past week and has been frequently at the Democratic headquarters. When asked by newspaper men for his views in regard to the situation in his party he has invariably replied that the situation was most encouraging but that he did not deem it wise to talk much at the present time. In a word, the senator says that if the Democrats will work quietly and energetically, each in his own district, this fall, and will leave national issues for the future, there is every reason to assume that public opinion will have so shaped itself before 1904 as to leave no question in the minds of the leaders as to what are the issues which will command support. The senator appears to be quite certain of Democratic success in 1904 and he anticipates that gains will be made this fall but, unlike some of the younger members of his party, he is a believer in accomplishing perfect harmony by following the old-fashioned injunction, "Say nothing and saw wood."

Whatever other issues may arise and whatever prominence present issues may attain, there is no doubt in the minds of the Democratic leaders in Washington that tariff revision will constitute an important feature of the platform on which the Democrats will appeal for support in 1904. No faith is placed in Mr. Roosevelt's intention to procure legislation which will actually hamper the trusts and even if he could demonstrate his own sincerity the Democrats appreciate his inability to accomplish anything in that direction. As the natural course of the trusts will be to become more powerful and more overbearing there is little doubt but that the people will be glad to seek relief from their extortions at the only source from which there is the least hope of obtaining it. Senator Carmack, who apparently believes, at least to some extent, in Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity, predicts that when the president comes to appreciate the true relations existing between the Republican party and the trusts he will become a "Democratic ally," but that view of the situation is not generally entertained in Washington.

The reports of Major Glenn's defense in his trial by court-martial, which have just reached the war department, make strong evidence in support of Democratic contentions in regard to the real situation in the Philippines. Major Glenn said, among other things, "Every man, woman and child in the islands was an enemy and, in my best judgment, they are to-day and always will be." This describes the situation precisely as the Democrats in congress described it and stultifies the claims of such men as Buencamino and other Filipino proteges of the administration who have testified that their countrymen were ready to receive the domination of the United States with open arms.

Maj. James Parker, of the adjutant general's office, has made public a statement of the officers and men killed and wounded in the Philippines between February 4, 1899, and July 16, 1902. The total number of men, including officers, sent to the islands during the period named was 127,938, of which number 7,052 lost their lives, 2,582 by disease and 4,470 from wounds or similar causes. The average strength of the forces in the islands was approximately 40,000 men. The number has been reduced to in the neighborhood of 20,000, but the greatest anxiety is expressed as to the ravages of cholera, which it is feared may rapidly increase the death rate. The returns from the islands show examples of the greatest heroism on the part of soldiers doing hospital duty. Many have exposed themselves to cholera in order to nurse their fellow-soldiers with apparently no thought as to their own safety.

The general fever of expansion which has resulted from the Spanish war seems likely to endanger the diplomatic relations now existing between the United States and Japan. It seems that one Captain Rosehill some time ago discovered, in the Pacific ocean, 800 miles east of Yokohama, an island which is known as Marcus island. The island bears great quantities of guano and Captain Rosehill believing himself to be its discoverer, determined to return and exploit the guano, but for some reason failed to do so for a considerable time. He has now sailed for the island, but meantime the Japanese government has learned of his intention and has sent a war vessel to protect the rights of certain Japanese citizens who set up a claim to the island. The state department feels certain that it can protect the rights of Captain Rosehill if he does not resort to violence in his efforts to assert his own claim, but if he resists the Japanese authorities it is more than probable that the affair will grow into serious complications which will involve the cordial relations which have always existed between the United States and that country.

It is generally believed that President Roosevelt is planning an extensive western trip for this fall, and in requesting his cabinet officers to speak from the platform in support of his administration, is following the inspiration of President Cleveland, who secured the nomination of his party in the face of opposition by the Democratic leaders. It is believed that Mr. Roosevelt clearly appreciates the efforts which are being, covertly but not the less surely, made to prevent his nomination for a second term and that he relies on his ability to capture popular sentiment to force the Republican leaders to nominate him in 1904. The president has frankly avowed his desire of securing the nomination to succeed himself and a careful scrutiny of the callers at Oyster Bay during his vacation will reveal the care with which he is laying his plans and the effort he is making to establish himself in an impregnable position.

Friends of the president take great pride in what they call "the list of the injured," viz., the roster of the congressmen who opposed the president's Cuban policy, and who have failed of renomination for congress or at least of indorsement by their own party. The list now includes three senators and eight representatives.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

By direction of the Democratic county committee, a Democratic county convention is hereby called to meet in the court house in Bedford on Tuesday, the 12th day of August, at one o'clock p. m., to place in nomination a county ticket and for such other purposes as may be properly before the convention, under rules of the party.

Each election district in the county is entitled to one delegate for every fifty Democratic votes, or fractional part thereof, polled at the last presidential election.

The election of delegates to the county convention will be held in the several boroughs and townships at the usual places for holding elections on Saturday, the 9th day of August, except in South Woodbury township, which will be held on Friday, the 8th, said elections to be open from two to six p. m. It is the duty of the member of the county committee residing in each election district to appoint three Democrats, to be sworn or affirmed according to law, to hold the election in his district and to see that the election is properly conducted. The election officers can swear themselves as election boards are usually sworn.

Democrats are asked to give careful attention to the selection of an active, energetic and influential Democrat in each election district to serve for one year as a member of the Democratic county committee.

At the regular meeting of the Democratic county committee held on March 8, 1902, the following proposed amendments to the rules of the party were recommended, to wit:—

That it shall be the duty of the Democratic county convention to select judicial, congressional and senatorial conferrees, and such conferrees are required to support such candidates as the said convention shall instruct for so long as there is a reasonable chance to nominate them, and beyond such instructions, the conferrees shall vote in such manner and for such candidates as will best advance the interests of the Democratic party and promote its success.

That the chairman of the Democratic county committee shall annually name the time for holding Democratic primary or nomination elections for spring elections and shall issue notice of such time and a call on the member of the Democratic county committee residing in each election district to give notice and to hold such primary elections under the rules of the Democratic party.

In accordance with the rules of the party relative to amendments to rules these proposed amendments will be submitted to the Democratic voters of the county at the primary election above mentioned, for their adoption, or rejection, and the voters will instruct the delegates elected to the county convention in accordance with the rules of the party.

The present county committeemen whose duty it is to see that elections are held under the call and the number of delegates from each district are as follows:

THE CHAMPION OF THE TRUSTS.

United States Senator Burton, of Kansas, one of the leading Republicans in the national legislative body, says: "It is a discussion between Republicans, and not a party question as against the Democrats. I deny that the beet sugar senators were in the minority. If any one says anything else he falsifies. If thirty-five Republican senators had come to us and said, 'We are going to pass that bill,' they could have done so. They never came to us with such a declaration. On the other hand, they came and encouraged us to keep up the fight. There are not fifteen Republican senators out of the fifty-four who are in favor of the present bill at heart. Beet sugar is a Republican question by authority."

This statement places the responsibility for the breach of faith with Cuba where it belongs—on the Republican party as a whole, and not upon a faction. High tariff in the interest of favored monopolies, in opposition to a just tariff for revenue, is the cause and will remain so as long as the Republican majority sticks to its present policy. A party which champions measures of selfish commercialism cannot, without danger of disintegration, spurn the spirit which animates the American people toward the insular dependencies that have come under our care. No Republican congress will ever deal fairly with Cuba or do complete justice to Porto Rico any more than it will free American industries and commerce from the fetters of monopoly which bind them and stunt their growth. The predatory plutocrats who have the party under their power place their seal of disapproval upon any measures calculated to relieve the oppressed—and the emancipation of the American people, the Cubans and Porto Ricans must be achieved by the overthrow of the organization which has always stood for the trusts and tariff-protected plunderers.

LEST WE FORGET.

"The platform adopted by the Democratic state convention at Erie, that nominated Pattison and Guthrie for the chief offices to be filled this fall, contains an indictment of Senator Quay, the head of the Republican machine, that is well worth careful reading and study," says the Pittsburg Post. "Usually platforms of a state convention are read and forgotten, but not so this Erie platform, for it recites truths that have been forced on the people of Pennsylvania. Commencing with the corrupt bargaining by which Quay, after having been rejected by the previous legislature, was elected by the legislature of last year by unchallenged and notorious bribery, the Erie platform goes on:

"The selection of a United States senator was accomplished in a carnival of corruption and bribery; that in the reckless determination to punish enemies and reward subservient tools, established municipal governments were ruthlessly overturned and the chosen servants of the people expelled from their offices to make place for the creatures of a corrupt machine, while the faith of the people in the sanctity of the judiciary was broken by its halting efforts to find plausible excuse for the crime; that, foiled in its efforts to rob the state of millions of dollars of valuable coal deposits, the legislature proceeded to that other and greater robbery of the railway franchises of the state worth millions to the plunderers, and stripping every city, town and township in the commonwealth of the proper control of its streets for trolley improvements; that even the public charities of the state, its hospitals and asylums and the comfort of their unfortunate inmates were made the sport of political greed and their appropriations measured and determined by their use and services to the machine; that no possible field of corruption was left uncultivated by state plunderers, who, in the name of a great political party, have prostituted all the purposes and powers of government to their own enrichment.

"This is not political buncombe or exaggeration, but what may be called the frozen truth. The 'carnival of corruption and bribery' by which the election of senator was accomplished cost not less than a million of dollars, starting with the choice of Marshall as speaker of the house, by the purchase of eight or ten votes, varying in price from $5,000 to $35,000. Then came the 'carnival of corruption' by which Quay was elected with Stone and Attorney General Elkin as the managers of his campaign. Then followed the robbery of railway franchises, worth millions to the plunderers; hospitals and asylums were blackmailed and plundered, and 'no possible field of corruption left uncultivated.'

"And it was of these conditions, which dishonored and disgraced Pennsylvania throughout the Union, that Quay's candidate for governor, Judge Pennypacker, declared 'Pennsylvania has no ills that are worthy of mention.' Naturally with such belief the judge-cousin declared Quay 'able to fitly represent the state and people.' In return Quay nominated—again by downright and undeniable bribery—his relative and eulogist as Stone's successor, just as four years ago he nominated Stone. Stone's nomination was the purchase product of Quay politics, just as Pennypacker's was. The two men were weighed in the same balance and approved by the same party dictator."

A Submerged Electric Motor

Is a new device by which any small rowboat can be easily transformed into a power propelling craft without making the slightest alteration in it. If people who are suffering from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels would try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, their condition would gradually improve until they are completely transformed from the weak, nervous condition to one of robust health. It is a medicine that the most delicate stomach can retain, and one that will not shock the system. During the past fifty years hundreds of people have voluntarily testified to its efficacy in cases of headache, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness, liver and kidney troubles, and malaria, fever and ague. We would therefore urge you to try a bottle and satisfy yourself.

Go Right On Working.

Ah, yes, the task is hard, 'tis true,
But what's the use of sighing?
They're soonest with their duties through,
Who bravely keep on trying.
There's no advantage to be found
In sorrowing or shirking;
They with success are soonest crowned
Who just go right on working.

Strive patiently and with a will
That shall not be defeated:
Keep singing at your task until
You see it stand completed.
Nor let the clouds of doubt draw near,
Your sky's glad sunshine murking;
Be brave, and fill your heart with cheer,
And just go right on working.—

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by all druggists.

THE SAD ENDING

To What Promised to Be a Brilliant and Honest History—A Feast at a Wayside Restaurant.

Special Correspondence of The Gazette.

New York, July 29.—Though persons of no great consequence to the world at large, and to the Greater New York in particular, Capt. Bradlee Strong and Miss May Yohe became the central and unsavory figures for the time, and though, individually considered, it is a matter of no consequence whether they live or die. Still, they furnish most excellent articles for the newspaper press and interesting gossip for those who have nothing better to do.

Captain Strong we know very well. He has lived here the greater part of his life. His father was the last mayor of the old municipality before the Greater New York was born. When the reformers were looking around for a candidate for mayor, after examining the records of thousands of men who could be entrusted with that great office, they finally selected Strong, a dry goods merchant, whose character, like that of Cæsar's wife, was away beyond suspicion, of unquestioned integrity and great administrative ability. He was the man of the millions of this great city who completely filled the bill and here arises a very delicate question. Could a man be intrusted with the government of millions of his fellow-men who was not able to furnish an exemplification of his ability in the government of his own family? He had but one son, the present Capt. Bradlee Strong, who has furnished such a profound sensation, from the Tenderloin district in the Greater New York to our new acquisitions in Manila. Japan has been no stranger to his wandering feet and his experience in China, if he is still alive, may yet furnish matter for an interesting book. While we are pretty well acquainted with Capt. Bradlee Strong, we also have a passing knowledge of the history of the siren who led the young soldier astray. We well recollect one afternoon, a few years ago, when this great city, from the Battery to the Bronx, was in a state of the wildest commotion, when the bulletin boards at the principal newspaper offices announced the sudden departure of May Yohe, no man knew whither. She was an operatic star of some consequence and considerable of a favorite with the general public. Where had she gone? And why did she go? These were questions no one could answer at the time. We were not kept in suspense very long, for in a few weeks she turned up in London as Lady Hope, the wife of a rich banker, who afterward, at the death of his mother, became the possessor of the celebrated Hope jewels, whose remarkable history was known all over the civilized world, and which the infatuated banker afterward presented to his newly married bride.

The Hope marriage and the presentation of the jewels was for a time the table talk of England, where the character of the bride was as well known as it was in the Greater New York, but the end of this scandalous history has come at last. Captain Strong's money is gone, as the notorious Jim Fisk used to say, "gone where the woodbine twineth." The siren on whom he lavished all his wealth has no further use for him now that his money is gone. The report is that he has committed suicide and Lady Hope, on being informed of that fact, replied that she thought it might be true. A singular circumstance in connection with this scandal is that the father of Captain Strong, who was our late mayor and who all his life was looked upon as a man of spotless integrity and honor, was found to be deficient $100,000 in his accounts after his death, and that deficiency has never yet been explained. It is a sad ending to what promised to be a brilliant and honest history. The fortune of father and son is scattered to the four winds of heaven, and so ends this romantic history.

Now that we have supped full of horrors, with wars, suicides, fires and railroad disasters, strikes by the millions among the working classes and appalling disasters in the mines, it is really a relief to turn from the contemplation of these horrors to something that really is a benefit to mankind. A real and honest effort is now at work to give our people square and honest food and we hope the day is not far distant when a man can get a decent cup of coffee or a woman a respectable cup of tea. I will not speak of the hoped for purity of a glass of whisky in this article, but I have not the slightest doubt that there are millions of my fellow-citizens—good, honest, worthy folk—who very much desire that their old blue grass shall be as straight as the moral law.

It is almost startling, the change that has been brought about in all the articles that we eat and drink. The increase in the use of canned goods consumed in our daily life is marvelous. The immensity of the product in our late war was phenomenal. The articles of canned beef alone amounted to hundreds of tons and some miserable wretch, instead of speaking of it as preserved beef, christened it "embalmed" beef. The very name sent a thrill of horror through our army and navy, who concluded that branch of the business should be given to undertakers, whose coat of arms or business crests should be a coffin and shroud. The result was that the stuff was committed to the waves of the ocean and it was resolved that it should never again be offered to human beings as an article of food, but to dissipate the prejudice that existed against canned articles of food, exhibitions have been held all over the country, the result of which was a gratifying success, but it seems to me that England in preserved articles of food has attained a higher degree of excellence than we have on this side of the Atlantic. An English firm having a specialty of any article of food seems to take a greater pride in its production than we do here in the United States. In due time the name of the firm becomes a valuable asset in the business. The name may exist for hundreds of years after the inventor has passed away. I shall never forget my surprise while passing over the mountains between Oregon and California. I stopped at a wayside restaurant to get something to eat, sitting down on a log, which not only furnished a seat, but also a part of the table, the whole affair belonging to a brawny savage, whose apology for a shirt was rolled up at the sleeves and opened at the breast. To his waist was strapped a good-sized six-shooter on one side and a bowie knife, the stout blade of which had evidently seen service.

"What will you have, gents?" said the landlord, who stood there alone in his glory.

"What have you got?" I inquired.

"Most anything that a hungry man wants," said he. "Bear meat, venison, mountain trout."

The revelation of his abundance startled me.

"What did you say?" I asked. "Bear meat, venison and mountain trout. Anything else?" I inquired.

The landlord looked at me as though he thought I was joking.

"Well, yes, sir, I could throw in a slice of bacon and some hog's liver.

"Well," I said, "we will take them all."

It took only a few moments to stir up the fire and put the preparations for the food in motion.

My mountain chef was evidently no amateur in the art of cooking. The savory aroma that rose from his frying pans and pots filled the air and satisfied the promise of good cheer. He went into his cabin and came back with a piece of board as white as the driven snow. This served for the table, on which this mountain chef began to lay the food. The service was neither Sevres, silver or gold, but it seemed to me that no food that I had sat down to in foreign lands ever tasted half as good.

"Have some soup, sir?"

"Yes," I replied; "by all means," and he handed me a platter of tin. I never thought of the platter, but it was the soup that beguiled me. My host looked on smilingly as the soup disappeared from the large wooden spoon which was part of the garniture of the menu.

"Try a little Worcestershire sauce; you will find it will improve the flavor, sir."

I took the bottle; yes, there it was, Cross & Blackwell's sure enough. Now, why is this? Why here away in the mountains, away from civilization, do we find an article manufactured thousands of miles away, in general use, and all our great hotels and restaurants will use no other? It does seem as if in a land with a population of eighty millions that some genius might produce a condiment to flavor our soups and meats as good as that produced on the other side of the Atlantic. To their credit be it said, they are generous advertisers. They know a good thing when they see it, and they take care that the world shall know it as well as themselves. They never hide their light under a bushel, but place it on the hilltop, where it can be seen by all men.

The question of aerial navigation we hope to see decided next week. Mons. Santos-Dumont is here with his new airship and he hopes to fly around the statue of Liberty, in the harbor, as he did around the Eifel tower, in the city of Paris. Whether he succeeds in this attempt or not there is no denying this stubborn fact, he is the only man who has made a substantial advance in aerial navigation since Montgolfier's time. The only difficult point that remains for solution of aerial navigation is the ability of the navigator to guide his balloon. The doubters of the success of the coming trial by Mons. Santos-Dumont used the same arguments that were used against the possibility of a steamboat making any substantial advance when the wind above it and the water below were both in opposition. Yet the day came when the vessels propelled by steam and those that depended, with sails, on the wind alone, did defy both wind and waves and gained a substantial progress with those two elements against them.

Mons. Santos-Dumont has our best wishes for success. He may meet with failure this time, but the human intellect will still work on. There will be no rest in the minds of those who are bent on achieving aerial navigation. The line of demarkation is but a hair between failure and success. Victory and success after failure break from out the night of supremest gloom. It has long been accepted as an axiom that the darkest hour is just before the day and Mons. Santos-Dumont may look down from his aerial throne with supreme contempt for the millions who prognosticated and hoped for his failure.

"If it be not now, it is to come,
If it be not come, it will be now,
If it be not now, it will come;
The readiness is all—
As no man taketh out of the world more than he bringeth into it;
So let it be,
There is a special providence
Even in the sparrow's fall."

One of the greatest excitements of the week was the arrest of the nephew of Germany's iron chancellor on a charge of petty larceny. He rushed into a carpet store and ran out with a small rug in his hand. On the cry of "Stop, thief!" he was seized by a policeman and was carried at once to court, where the judge heard the charge and then asked the criminal why he had committed such an offence. He declared he was on the verge of starvation and that he was a nephew of Germany's great chancellor, the Count Von Bismarck. The judge accepted his story and discharged him with an admonition. It was very kind of the judge, who evidently believed he was telling the truth, but in our benighted ignorance we are almost ashamed to confess that the sorrowful story of this noble German seemed a little fishy and would not wash. Why, no hungry German with such a pedigree could be hungry five minutes in New York. Our rich German brewers would stuff him with lager and all sorts of good things till he was ready to burst. Our German bankers and merchants would have furnished the cash to have paid his passage not merely to Hamburg, but to Nova Zembla, or the North Pole, but be his story good or bad, it was sufficient to raise the wind, so on Saturday he shook the dust of his 17 brogans and, with a clean collar and dirty handkerchief, left for the fatherland, and if he will take our advice, when he reaches Hamburg he will keep out of the way of all his noble German relations. The Republican party will do nothing practical on the trust question as long as it is afraid to revise the tariff.

The trust outfielders will simply move a little further out when Mr. Littlefield comes to the bat.

Things are not so "Hell Roaring" in the administration editorial sanctums as they were. Watch the little fellows drop General Jake.

It would seem from the latest developments that there is a strong probability of the "Hell-roaring Jake" cat coming back for another concert on the doorstep of the administration.

Excursions To Atlantic Coast Resorts.

August 7 and 21 and September 11 are the remaining dates of the Pennsylvania railroad annual low rate excursions to Atlantic City, Cape May, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Avalon, Anglesea, Wildwood, Holly Beach, N. J., Rehoboth, Del., or Ocean City, Md. Tickets good to return within sixteen days, including date of excursion. A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will leave Pittsburg on above-mentioned dates at 8.55 a. m., arriving at Altoona 12.15 p. m., where stop for dinner will be made, reaching Philadelphia 6.25 p. m., in time for supper, and arriving at Atlantic City, via. the Delaware River Bridge route, the only all rail line, at 8.35 p. m. Passengers may also spend the night in Philadelphia and proceed to the shore by any regular train from Market Street wharf or Broad Street station on the following day. Passengers for points other than Atlantic City will spend the night in Philadelphia and use regular trains the next day from Market Street wharf. On the August excursions a stop-over of ten days will also be allowed at Philadelphia on the going trip, if passengers will deposit their tickets with the ticket agent at Broad Street station, Philadelphia, immediately on arrival. Tickets for excursions of September 11 do not permit stop-over in either direction and must be deposited with agent on arrival at seashore destination. Tickets will be sold from stations at the rates named below:—

	Rate.	Train Leaves.
Cumberland	$7 50	8 10 A. M.
Hyndman	7 50	8 38 "
Bedford	7 25	9.25 "
Huntingdon	7 10	1.26 P. M.

Tickets will also be good on regular trains leaving Pittsburg at 4 50 and 9 p. m., carrying sleeping cars to Philadelphia, and 7.10 p. m., carrying Pullman sleeping cars through to Atlantic City. For detailed information in regard to rates and time of trains apply to ticket agents or Thomas E. Watt, district passenger agent, Pittsburg.

International S. S. Lesson for August 3.

THE TABERNACLE. Exodus 40: 1-13. Read the whole chapter.

Golden Text—"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise." Psalm 100:4.

The Lord spoke to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. He said to Moses, "Hew thyself two tables of stone like unto the first; and I will write upon these tables the words which were on the first tables, which thou didst break. And be ready by the morning and come up in the morning unto Mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me on the top of the mount. And no man shall come up with thee, neither let any man be seen throughout all the mount; neither let the flocks nor herds feed near this mount."

And Moses did so. And the Lord descended in the cloud and stood with him there and proclaimed, by name, the Lord. Moses remained there with the Lord forty days and forty nights; bread he did not eat and water he did not drink; and when he came down from the mount the skin of his face shone so that the people were afraid to come near him.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, "On the first day of the first month shalt thou set up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation. And thou shalt put therein the ark of the testimony and separate the ark with the veil. And thou shalt bring in the table and arrange the order of the showbread upon it; and thou shalt bring in the candlestick and light the lamps thereof.

And thou shalt set the altar of gold for the incense before the ark of the testimony; and thou shalt put up the hanging at the door to the tabernacle. And thou shalt set the altar of burnt offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation.

And thou shalt set the laver between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar and thou shalt put water therein. And thou shalt set up the court round about and put up the hanging at the gate of the court. And thou shalt take the anointed oil and anoint the tabernacle and all that is therein and thou shalt hallow it, with all its vessels, and it shall be holy.

And thou shalt anoint the altar of burnt offering and all its vessels; and thou shalt sanctify the altar and the altar shall be most holy. And thou shalt anoint the laver with its foot and sanctify it. And thou shalt bring near Aaron and his sons unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation and wash them with water.

And thou shalt clothe Aaron with the holy garments; and thou shalt anoint him and sanctify him, that he may be a priest unto me. And his sons shalt thou bring near and clothe them with coats and thou shalt anoint them, as thou hast anointed their father, that they may be priests unto me; and this shall be, that their anointing shall be unto them for an everlasting priesthood throughout their generations."

And Moses did so, all, just as the Lord had commanded him. And the cloud covered the tent of the congregation and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle.

When the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle the children of Israel went onward. But if the cloud was not taken up, then they journeyed not. For the cloud of the Lord was upon the tabernacle by day and a fire was by night on it, before the eyes of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeyings.

Niagara Falls Excursions.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has selected the following dates for its popular ten-day excursions to Niagara Falls from Washington and Baltimore: August 7 and 21, September 4 and 18 and October 2 and 16. On these dates the special train will leave Washington at 8 a. m., Baltimore 9 05 a. m., Harrisburg 11.40 a. m., arriving Niagara Falls at 9 35 p. m. Excursion tickets, good for return passage on any regular train, exclusive of limited express trains, within ten days, will be sold at $10 from Washington and Baltimore; $8 50 from Harrisburg; $7.80 from Altoona; and at proportionate rates from principal points. A stop-over will be allowed at Buffalo within limit of ticket returning. The special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run with each excursion running through to Niagara Falls. An extra charge will be made for parlor-car seats. An experienced tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each excursion. For descriptive pamphlet, time of connecting trains and further information apply to nearest ticket agent or address George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia.

Grain-O and Jell-O.

Mr. Basom, who was in town last week advertising GRAIN-O and JELL-O, called at this office before he left and presented us with a package each of Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry JELL-O. We found that JELL-O is a delicious gelatine dessert preparation, already sweetened and flavored, and prepared for the table by simply pouring boiling water over it. We should think that it would be very nice to add figs, nuts, sliced bananas, oranges or other fresh or candied fruits. As the price is but 10 cents a package, it seems that all might enjoy this luxury, as every first class grocer sells it.

The Tariff and Trusts.

"If the Democrats can succeed in making anti-monopoly and tariff reform the principal issues of the pending campaign," declares the Philadelphia Ledger (Rep.,) "they will be able to direct an attack upon the most vulnerable parts of the Republican lines."

There has never before been such an argument against the trusts as the beet sugar lobby has made. It has taken the Republican party by the throat, compelled it to turn down McKinley and Roosevelt, to repudiate its platform pledges and to break faith with the Cuban republic. The advocates of this dishonor could not have accomplished their object if their open attacks had not been secretly abetted by all the other plundering trusts that are permitted by tariff favor to pick the pockets of the people of the United States. If the sugar monopoly were to be disturbed by reciprocal trade arrangements with Cuba, they argued, it would be an entering wedge for further movement toward commercial emancipation. This plea was effective. Congress has ended its sitting, and rather than even clip the fringe of the garment of Dingleyism the country has been put to open shame.—Philadelphia Record.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

Comment on Matters of Public Interest by A. J. Palm.

The man who can deliberately declare that Pennsylvania has no political evils worthy of mention, as Pennypacker did last November, can insist with equal consistency that Hell has no terrors which deserve to be feared, and that Satan lacks but a few of the qualities necessary to make him a saint.

* * *

Republican papers have done a good deal of boasting lately about our increasing trade with the Philippines. In May our exports amounted to less than $30,000, not counting 4,000 coffins in which to bury our dead and dying soldiers. These at $8 each would amount to more than all the other exports, but of course, they must be counted in showing the great benefits of the war, as must also the whisky and beers used by our soldiers and the natives whom we have the honor of teaching the use of strong drink.

* * *

Has the Republican who thinks that Quay controls the movements of the heavenly bodies ever stopped to think of the fearful consequences to the state and nation should the Old Man peg out in one of his many cases of indisposition? According to his own statement at the last state convention, made with a voice filled with tearful sadness, he is the last buffalo bull on the plains; and one need not be a college graduate to see where the buffalos would soon be at with the last bull gone. With "Bull" Andrews in reserve there is perhaps no immediate cause of alarm.

* * *

If the notorious Mayor Ashbridge does not object, Vanderslice will succeed Pennypacker when he resigns. Quay, Durham, Penrose and Stone, like Barkis, are all said to be "willin" and all that remains is to know whether Vanderslice will suit Ashbridge. Of course the million voters of the state have no more to say about the matter than have the serfs of Russia. If Ashbridge has a pal whom he wants on the bench then under the circumstances, Quay, Penrose & Co. will give way. They want to use Ashbridge good and hard about election time, and just now he can have anything he asks for.

* * *

Hon. John H. Fow, who is a good constitutional lawyer, contends that no person can hereafter vote in Pennsylvania unless he is registered. He maintains, and with apparent good reason, that the passage of the constitutional amendment last fall, annulling the clause in the constitution which permitted a voter to vote by swearing that he had paid tax even if not registered, makes it obligatory now for all voters to be registered. It is always best to be on the safe side, and as no Democrat wants to lose his vote this fall, it will be well for every one to make sure that his name is on the registry list.

* * *

Perhaps it would be just as well for Hon. W. H. Andrews not to have New Mexico admitted as a state to give him a job as United States senator. He never fails to go to the limit in Pennsylvania when Quay yells for help to get himself out of a hole, and the law seems powerless to punish no matter how flagrant the violation; but he should keep in mind the fact that in New Mexico they have a habit of shooting at times when the law seems a little tardy or inefficient. William might be a better risk for the insurance companies by keeping under the protecting wing of the great Pennsylvanian whose greatness, according to Pennypacker, amounts almost to genius.

* * *

The seething criticism of the supreme court by Alexander Simpson, Jr., of the Philadelphia bar, at the recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association ought to cause the people to stop long enough to ask whether a machine made court is the proper thing in Pennsylvania or any other state. Mr. Simpson is a very able lawyer and a Republican, but he is not so much of a partisan that he cannot recognize a flagrant violation of law even when perpetrated to assist in the partisan schemes of his own party; and he is not so much of a coward that he is afraid to condemn it. What annoys the Republican bosses is the fact that the large number of lawyers present seemed to thoroughly endorse Mr. Simpson's position, and the newspapers that were too partisan to praise were lost for words to condemn.

* * *

The Pennsylvania legislature unanimously passed a resolution at the two last sessions declaring in favor of the election of United States senators by the vote of the people. What have the people now to say of Quay and Penrose, who both dodged the vote on the question? It is easy to understand why such senators are not willing to risk their ease with the people, but, if the people have any spunk they will call on them to explain why they refused to obey their wishes as expressed by their representatives in the legislature. Penrose not only refused to support the measure, but attached an amendment to make sure of killing it. If the citizens of Pennsylvania mean anything when they say through their newspapers and their representatives that they want their senators to support a bill to allow the people of the United States to be allowed to vote on the question of electing senators they will take the opportunity this fall to resent the insult of Quay and his man Friday in not only refusing to support the bill recommended but actually ridiculing it.

Cut Off.

"Poor child!" exclaimed Mrs. Goodart, who had been touched by the appeal to the extent of a quarter. "And how did this accident happen to your father?"

"Why," replied the bright little girl, "he begged so much money one day that he got drunk and was sent to jail."

"But you told me his arms were cut off."

"Oh, no, ma'am! I said 'alms.'"—Philadelphia Press.

A Sudden Marriage.

"Let me tell you," says a Missouri correspondent of the Kansas City Journal, "about a marriage that happened in Saline county in 1856. The ceremony was performed by Elder McGarvey. The groom was a man named Johnson—I forget his first name—and, being mighty nervous about the approaching ceremony, he went to McGarvey and requested that he make it as short as possible and received the minister's assurance that he would do so. Mr. Johnson never forgot that night as he marched down with his bride on his arm and was met by the minister at the foot of the stairs. As soon as they reached the bottom step McGarvey stretched out his hands and said, 'You're married.' The suddenness of it took the groom's breath away, and he turned to his best man and shouted, 'Henry, am I married?' This marriage ceremony didn't take over ten seconds."

The Sensitive Tortoise.

Few animals seem more impassive than the tortoise, but those who have ever watched its movements know that the creature is really very sensitive. A few drops of rain will send it home with all speed. Even the distant approach of a shower makes it uneasy. Hence Gilbert White remarked that his tortoise showed "as much solicitude about the rain as a lady dressed in all her best attire."

The bright light of the sun seems especially grateful to tortoises. They rarely stir out at night, and the approach of winter drives them into their retreats. This physical sensitiveness shows their temperament to be less sluggish than is commonly supposed.

The animal also learns to recognize persons and remembers those who feed it, instantly distinguishing them from strangers.

A Final Decision.

It was while Judge Celora E. Martin was on the New York supreme court bench that a self important young lawyer was arguing a motion before him. Tiring of the attorney's grandiloquence, Justice Martin interrupted him and started to render an adverse decision.

"But your honor does not understand the case," still urged the attorney, who saw that things were not coming his way. "Permit me to explain the law. I have here some of the latest decisions of the court of appeals, in which it is held"—

"Motion is denied, with costs," again interrupted the justice. "Have you any later decision than that?"—New York Times.

Provoking a Husband.

A Mohammedan woman cannot of herself separate from her husband without his consent. He may divorce her with a few words spoken by himself. If she is clever, however, she will take him by surprise at an unguarded moment and contrive to do or say something which will make him so angry that before he can exercise sufficient self control to stop himself he has uttered the wished for words.

He Whistled.

Old Lady (to grocer's boy)—Don't you know that it is very rude to whistle when dealing with a lady?

Boy—That's what the guv'nor told me to do, mum.

"Told you to whistle?"

"Yes'm. He said if we ever sold you anything we'd have to whistle for the money."

Cause and Effect.

The honeymoon was waning.

"I can't help thinking," she remarked, "that the clergyman looked solemn when he was marrying us."

"Well," he answered, "he's a married man himself."—Chicago Post.

Political Questions of the Day Discussed By Editors

Every time Mr Sibley forgets his Republicanism he manages to say a lot of patriotic things — The Commoner

There is no reason to question Chairman Donnelly's declaration that "Ex Governor Pattison and the Democratic city committee are working in perfect harmony and in mutual trust and sincerity" Certainly this ought to be true and we have a right to assume that it is true notwithstanding apparently interested efforts to create a different impression — Philadelphia Times

The Pennsylvania state building at the Charleston Exposition which cost $11 325 to build has been sold at auction for $135 It was a characteristic machine job when built and its sale was of the same character It is impossible to secure honest dealing as concerns the state in anything the people at Harrisburg of the Stone administration put their hands The track of dishonesty and theft trails after them from the cradle to the grave—Pittsburg Post

Mr Guthrie has done more than any man in the state to promote ballot reform He has labored with equal assiduity and success for municipal reform and governmental improvements of every kind As lieutenant governor he will be a part and an important part of the legislative branch of the government and his presence there will be an inspiration to effort and a basis of hope for all citizens of the commonwealth who desire honest elections and just returns — Harrisburg Star Independent

The record of the present administration at Harrisburg has convinced thinking men that partisan success does not always insure the best results in office and that a proper regard for the operation of the organic law of the state and the rights of the people are more desirable in an executive than his devotion to any particular brand of machine politics The nomination of Mr Pattison as the Democratic candidate for governor will invest the state campaign with a degree of interest that it would not otherwise possess — Scranton Truth (Ind Rep)

The nomination of Quay's candidate for governor means if it means anything, that ballot box stuffing is to be perpetrated in Philadelphia The practices of Salter are to be continued and perfected It has been made possible in the past by an acquiescent bench and the judicial courtesy will be invoked this year to help Pennypacker If the judges had been faithful to their obligations and just to the community the practice would have been broken up long ago but they have encouraged ballot box stuffing by making it as difficult as possible to convict the perpetrators of the crime — Bellefonte Watchman

When Judge Pennypacker away back in November wrote his panegyric of Senator Quay in which he estimated that gentleman as a greater statesman than Daniel Webster and the possessor of gifts equal to those of Shakespeare he thought he was simply paying the profligate tribute of a blind infatuation to a kinsman who had been kind It marked him a fool for besides showing an intellectual infirmity it revealed an indifference to political immorality which was disgraceful to the bench But it may be assumed that he neither expected nor desired other reward than a sign of appreciation Such an infatuation is equally satisfied with a kiss or a kick —Harrisburg Star Independent

Judging from its severity those outside of Pennsylvania would say of the Democratic platform Here is partisan recklessness It is nothing of the kind It is the plain unvarnished truth stated without exaggeration There is not an assertion in it but is sustained by Republican authority The Democrats did not exaggerate simply because the facts in the case defy exaggeration The politics of Pennsylvania is the plague spot of the nation and it has debauched the state government to a degree that it is impossible to overstate This is all confessed by Republicans of the highest possible character and who have occupied the highest place in Republican councils — Boston Herald (Ind)

If the people of the Quaker State were not irretrievably wedded to the rule of bosses the nomination of Robert E Pattison for governor by the Democrats would present an opportunity for repudiating and rebuking Quayism which they would be quick to take advantage o

Ex Governor Pattison who enjoys the distinction of having overturned the heaviest Republican majority that is recorded in any state in the union in two gubernatorial elections is the foremost Democrat in Pennsylvania and by many regarded as a presidential possibility If by any chance he should be elected governor this fall he would go into the national Democratic convention with a very large and enthusiastic following

With an official record and private career that are above reproach and a reputation for a well poised judicial way of handling executive business ex Governor Pattison is certain to command a very large Republican vote in what is popularly known as an off year election Thousands of Republicans will vote for him not only from personal choice but hoping thereby to record their protest against the machine politics with which Quay has burdened the state for years—Times Herald Chicago (Rep)

The denunciation of the majority of the state supreme court for its decision in the ripper cases by Alexander Simpson Jr the retiring president of the State Bar Association at the meeting of that body at Cambridge Springs yesterday will probably impress the minds of thinking people more than all the stump oratory on the subject that can be perpetrated during the present political canvass Mr Simpson by the way is a Republican His criticism of the majority of the supreme court therefore cannot be charged up to political partisanship In the course of his remarks Mr Simpson quotes section 7 of article 3 of the state constitution which forbids the enactment of any local or special laws regulating the affairs of counties cities townships wards boroughs or school districts * * * or changing their charters creating offices or prescribing the powers and duties of officers in counties cities boroughs etc Mr Simpson comments on this constitutional provision as follows "It is safe to say from the debates in the convention and from the history of the times that outside of the supreme court chambers nearly everyone supposed that the clauses quoted destroyed the power to legislate for localities To the lay mind at least it seems that Mr Simpson has the correct view of the matter – Harrisburg Star Independent.

HE NEVER SPOKE AGAIN.

The Dog That Served the Purpose of a Ventriloquist

The following story is told of a ventriloquist now famous but at the time of this happening ... used to walk between the cities where he was to appear On one of these tours he came to Philadelphia on foot and on the road he picked up a terrible little dog because he liked so much like he felt The story will explain what became of the dog

The first house he came to was a saloon and of course he wanted a drink He had no money but wanted to see how what he could do The proprietor a German said

'Well what will you have '

He said I'll take a little whisky and then turning to the dog he asked 'What will you have'

The answer came very promptly "I'll take a ham sandwich"

The German was so surprised he almost fainted He looked at the dog a moment and then asked

What did you say

The dog replied

"I said a ham sandwich"

He thought it wonderful that a dog should be able to talk and asked who had trained him how long it had taken etc and wound up with

How much you take for him

Oh said Mr Ventriloquist I wouldn't sell him at any price but I am a little hard up now and if you will lend me $50 I'll leave him with you till I bring back the money

"All right said Hans I just want him for a little while so I can show him to some smart people I know around here

So everything was settled the money paid etc and as the ventriloquist went out he turned and waved his hand to the dog and said

Well goodby Jack I'll come back soon

The dog looked at him and said

'You mean son of a gun to sell me for $50 after all I done for you! So help me Moses I'll never speak another word as long as I live

And he didn't Philadelphia Times

FLOWER AND TREE.

There is a paul variety of lily of the valley which is often grown in England through seedlings on with us

A palm tree which grows on the banks of the Amazon has leaves thirty to fifty feet in length and ten to twelve feet in breadth

Standard and standard plants and varieties should be the rule of the beginner Experiment with new flowers and varieties only in a small way

Study color effects if you would have a really beautiful garden The brightest colors often neutralize each other sadly Clear reds and magentas for instance should not be close neighbors

Know the plants as you would people if you would have them respond fully Find out their habits their likes and dislikes The study is one of unfailing pleasure and it pays rich interest in perpetual bloom

Tamarix plants are good for low hedges Plants a foot and a half apart will soon run branches together and the foliage is dense from the ground up The flowers are almost as brilliant as those of the double ... and are produced freely from July to late October

Always Wash Before They Pray

Moslems always bathe before they pray They would not dare enter the house of prayer with unclean hands or feet or face hence when the muezzins call is heard from the minaret five times a day faithful Moslems go first to the fountains that are found outside of every mosque and bathe themselves There are innumerable bathhouses also in which genuine Turkish baths in harness can be given

At the same time their houses are positively filthy too filthy as a rule for human beings to occupy—and the streets of Constantinople and every other Turkish town are indescribable in their nastiness The clothing they wear is as dirty as their bodies are clean and their food is often unfit for similar reasons Chicago Record Herald

The Lion and the Unicorn

The unicorn came into the royal arms with James I It belongs to the royal arms of Scotland The signet ring of Mary mother of James is in existence having a unicorn on it In the royal arms there are one supporter represents England the other Scotland

The lion and the unicorn occur also in ancient Buddhist sculptures placed together as supporters Both of these animals also are seen playing draughts together in the well known Egyptian painting But the oldest connection of the two is in the blessing of Jacob and of Moses —Notes and Queries

PARTY REFORM

Can Come Only By Fighting Outside Party Lines.

The Linesville (Pa) Herald edited by Hon H D Lowing recently contained the following editorial which is full of good sense Mr Lowing was formerly a Republican member of the legislature but of late years has refused like a great many other conscientious Republicans to lend his sanction to a party which no longer represents his honest views

Sometimes perhaps a party may be reformed from the inside but it will be difficult for anyone to point to a case where it has been done It is a vain hope which some good men indulge in Reforming a party from the inside is like a man trying to lift himself out of the mud and mire by his boot straps

The only way to get rid of rings and political schemers is to turn them down even if you have to turn down some good men with them To do this by forming a new party requires a political upheaval amounting to a revolution

Generally the only practical way to accomplish any good is for the independent men who care more for good honest government than they do for party success is to swing boldly over to the other side then one man counts as much as two who by way of protest vote for a party that cannot elect anyone

The men who always vote their party ticket right or wrong are a part of the machine as much as the bosses who make the nominations and shape the policy of the party The procession that follows the band wagon wherever it goes are as much a part of the machine as those riding in the box and doing the steering Republicans are not voting now for Abraham Lincoln Thaddeus Stevens Governor Curtin John P Hale and Charles Sumner nor for the principles of self government and civil liberty for all men which those men carried out

The Republican party is controlled by men as unlike the patriarchs of the Civil War as Jefferson Davis and Howell Cobb were unlike Jackson Jefferson and Madison

In the fifties the Democrats and Whigs were not all pro slavery fanatics and many of them stuck to their old parties hoping to reform them from the inside but those in office with the influence and money of the Cotton Kings to back them were too much for all the good men when divided and pushed the people into war and revolution

While good Republicans are waiting for reform on the inside those in control are waging a cruel and wicked war of conquest laying waste the best settled and best civilized portions of the Philippine Islands where the best educated and most Christian inhabitants are aspiring for independence and self government At the same time they are in league with despotic Sultans paying them out of the treasury and supporting them in their slave-holding imperialism

Is the flag of liberty that floats over the palace and harem and slave pens of the Sultan to stay put until the Republican party can be reformed from the inside?

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts and one or two Republicans in the house were the only Republicans in congress who had the humanity and courage to protest against the continuance of the unrighteousness war upon those who had broken the Spanish power and were setting up for themselves

Must this unjust war of subjugation go on until these half a dozen or less reform the party from the inside or will men assert their independence and break away from the control of the bosses and support men in other parties who believe that all men have rights too sacred to be trampled under foot by conquering armies'

THE FIRST AUTOMOBILE

It Was an Ancient Self Moving Shrine of Bacchus

Few perhaps are aware that the first automobile considered in the sense of a vehicle containing within itself powers of locomotion of which there is any authentic account was a self moving shrine of Bacchus

This was the invention of Heron of Alexandria who describes it in his work on automatic mechanism The shrine in question was mounted upon two supporting and two driving wheels On the axle of the driving wheels was a drum about which was wound a rope which passed upward through the space on one side of the shrine over pulleys and was fastened to the ring of a ponderous lead weight which rested upon a quantity of dry fine sand The escape of this sand through a small hole in the middle of the floor of the compartment containing it allowed the lead weight gradually to descend and by pulling upon the cord caused the shrine to move slowly forward in a straight line

Heron describes the method of arranging and proportioning the wheels in case it was desired that the shrine move in a circular path He also shows how the shrine can be constructed to move in a straight line at right angles to each other

Officials of the patent office overlook ed the device of Heron when they granted patents on slot machines not withstanding that previously Thomas Lobaul commissioner of patents in 1850 illustrated and described Heron's invention The mechanism of the latter is almost identical with that in the modern device and simply serves as another proof of the saying 'There is nothing new under the sun'—Washington Times

Of the child is an event in the mother's life How proud she feels when the attempt to walk is begun so early as to evidence childish courage and sturdy strength Such pride should be enjoyed by every mother But it often happens that the child is timid weak and deficient in vitality and clings to the mother's arms with no desire to walk or play

VIRTUES OF LIGHT LUNCHES

American Acuteness Due In Part to the Midday Repasts

A great many people feel they have done their whole duty by sounding their gloom when they denounce the quick lunch' of the American business world as the sum of all gastronomic iniquities But in so far as the quick lunch is a light lunch and it usually is this it may be a blessing in disguise In fact an observing foreigner lays much of the acuteness and business energy of Americans to the fact that for the most part the American business and professional man eats lightly even if hurriedly and drinks but little at the midday meal hence his mind is clear he is not sluggish and he is able to do a good deal between 1 o'clock and 6

As a contrast the foreign observer mentions the heavy midday eating habits of certain European countries notably Germany and to that he attributes the lethargy that is calling for all the highest efforts of the best minds to counteract In this he is in harmony with an American specialist who in decrying a heavy midday meal said that 'the plan of eating a heavy meal at noon and returning to work almost directly from the dinner table explains the prevalence of dyspepsia in countries not enjoying the long afternoon recess of the tropics Since the light lunch and the quick lunch do not fit in with this criticism those who have blamed our national dyspepsia on the busy man's bite' had better look a little further for the matter

Perhaps we do eat too much as certain dietetic specialists tell us but it looks as if we were slowly approaching the country over to an ideal dietetic system for Americans which makes the lunch the slightest meal and the evening meal the most substantial meal of the day whatever it may be called And if the quick lunch of the business world has had any effect in this direction it is not the unmixed evil some declare it to be—Philadelphia Press

The Kadiak Bear

The largest known living carnivorous animal is the Kadiak bear Although the biggest creature in the western continent the Kadiak bear has the most limited habitat of any animal in the world The island of Kadiak just off the western coast of Alaska is the only place where it is found The largest one killed by a white man measured fifteen feet in length and was six feet high at the shoulders Standing upon his hind legs this monster would tower nearly twenty feet in the air — Philadelphia Inquirer

Nelson's Odd Appearance

When Lord Nelson was commanding the Mediterranean squadron and lying off the bay of Biscay the captains of two Spanish frigates lately arrived from America sent to entreat the honor of an audience with the admiral merely to give themselves the gratification of seeing a person whom they considered to be the greatest man in the world Captain Hardy took their request to Lord Nelson and urged compliance with it notwithstanding the admiral's querulous reply of What is there to see in an old withered fellow like myself

Nelson always wore short breeches and silk stockings and at this moment his legs were bound at the knee and ankle with pieces of brown paper soaked in vinegar and tied with red tape The application was to allay the irritation of some mosquito bites

Quite forgetting this and the extraordinary appearance it presented he went on deck to the Spanish captains and conducted the interview with such perfect good breeding and courtesy that his odd appearance was quite forgotten in the charm of his manners and the Spaniards went away with every high opinion confirmed which they had previously formed of Lord Nelson

Men and Food

Cassius wanted to know upon what meat doth this our Cæsar feed that he is grown so great Some antiquarian has been making an investigation into the diet of the New England Cæsars including Governor Winslow Daniel Webster and others He finds that they or their ancestors breakfasted on hasty pudding pea soup flavored with pork squash turnips and onions, dined on the same with rye pudding brown bread and an occasional fowl and supped on fresh fish with vegetables

But Cassius did not really think that greatness had its root in meat and drink for he said The fault dear Brutus is * * * in ourselves that we are underlings' after declaring that "men at some time are masters of their fates '

He was right It was not pea soup and rye bread in the east that made Webster nor was it salt pork in the west that raised Lincoln until he over topped all others in his generation—Youth's Companion

A Common Snake.

The common snake which bears the scientific name of Tropidonotus natrix is one species of a genus (tropidonotus) which extends over Europe and North America and from northern Asia to north Australia there being seventeen or eighteen Indian species alone Our common snake may serve as an example of the largest family into which serpents are divided—the family colubridæ—of which there are upward of 165 species in India alone The family contains most of the harmless snakes and it is also illustrated by a small snake Coronella austriaca which some years ago was discovered to be an inhabitant of Dorsetshire and Hampshire The coronella feeds exclusively on lizards slow worms and small snakes. Though harmless it will bite. —Quarterly Review.

FOR PATTISON.

A Prominent Independent Declares Opposition to Pennypacker

Professor John B Rendall leader of the Republican Union forces and who was elected a member of the legislature on the fusion ticket four years ago is the first of the prominent anti machine Republicans of Chester county to announce himself as opposed to the election of Judge Pennypacker In giving his reasons therefor he says

'Judge Pennypacker has himself in the studied and deliberate article of a public magazine given the most unreserved eulogy of Mr Quay ever given any public man In his judgment Mr Quay and his methods are as near perfection as can be found on earth If the judge should be elected governor how could he do otherwise than make all appointments and urge and approve all legislation recommended by the man who is his ideal and idol in public life? With this logical and moral certainty staring us in the face I do not see how men who utterly dissent from the principles and methods that have prevailed can approve such nomination

As important or perhaps more important than the governorship there are being nominated all over the state the same men and the same kind of men as were in the last legislature and under the same absolute control Pounds and pounds of promises they made but not an ounce of fulfillment And they are making the same promises again today but they are owned and nominated by the same masters who owned them before

Glittering promises of ballot reform and an honest count before election but bail bonds and alibi for ballot box stuffers after election, rippers for cities and communities that will not bow to the yoke, privileges and franchises for the select syndicate of politicians but injunctions for the trolleys of the people

"From the wheat fields and the mountains of the state there is a stern silent protest going up against these principles and methods '

INDEPENDENTS FOR PATTISON

Professor Rendall spent several days in town the past week in an effort to crystallize the Republican opposition to the Republican machine into a tangible and compact organization and a general conference will be held in this place shortly when definite action will be taken in the maturing of campaign plans The trend among the anti machine Republicans of this county is decidedly toward Pattison and the delegates sent from here to the Union party convention in Philadelphia it is said, will use their influence in having Pattison indorsed by the convention

In local affairs it seems to be settled that an independent ticket will be put in the field This means that a couple thousand Republicans will be diverted from the machine ticket in which the Democrats see a strong hope of success providing they choose the right kind of timber for the legislature and county offices

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Dr Chas H Utter a prominent physician of Panama, Colombia in a recent letter states Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour Her parents were sure she would die She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it The most wonderful result was effected Within eight hours she was feeling much better, inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well For sale by all druggists

GATHERING OPIUM

How the Petals and Juice of the Poppy Plant Are Procured

It is a sort of garden cultivation the poppy plants being grown in little squares or beds intersected by tiny water channels for irrigation wherever this is possible The growth of the plants is carefully tended and at length the time comes when they burst out into flower and the fields look like a sheet of silver as the white petals of the flowers glisten in the morning dew

These beautiful petals are the first produce of the crop for the women and children of the cultivators families come forth and pick them off one by one and carefully dry them so that they may serve afterward as the cover ing of the manufactured cakes of opium Then the poppies with their bare capsule heads remain standing in the open field until it is considered that they are ripe for lancing The cultivators then come forth in the evening and with an implement not unlike the knives of a cupping instrument they scarify the capsule on its sides with deep incisions so that the juice may exude

In the early morning the cultivators reappear with a scraping knife and their earthenware pots, and they scrape off the exuded juice and collect it in their pots And this is crude opium —Blackwood's Magazine

Taking Off a Horse Collar

It is not always ignorant persons who fail to observe closely Coleridge and Wordsworth took a drive with a friend After great difficulty the horse was unharnessed except the collar could not get the collar off One of them said it was a downright impossibility' and that the horse's head must have grown since the collar was put on La master said a girl, "turn the collar upside down"

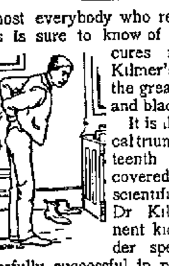
DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder remedy



It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century discovered after years of scientific research by Dr Kilmer the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney bladder uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble

Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co, Binghamton N Y The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

POSITION IN SLEEP.

Night Habits That Assert Their Dominion Over All Mankind

There are few persons who can tell offhand just what positions they assume to invite sleep and yet there is not an individual in the world who has not some trick of distributing limbs and trunk to insure slumber's blissful spell which he practices unconsciously This is a night habit as perpetual and immutable under normal conditions as the succession of the seasons No sooner are we really off to the land of nod than the night habit asserts its dominion Our hands and arms seek the same parts of the bed or the same portions of our bodies upon which they have nightly rested since infancy Our feet and legs stretch at the same angles or loosely intertwine in comfortable relaxation as commanded by unconscious will

It is seldom of our own deliberate volition that we place our bodies in position for sleep as you will find tonight on going to bed if you remember these words In truth if you do not seek to combat the instincts you will be surprised at the dispositions of the various members involuntarily made If you endeavor to sleep by a new arrangement of the body you will also be surprised by the revolt against slumber which will surely ensue, but even before the struggle is well begun you will probably surrender and permit the all masterful night habit to reinstate those little details of position which long practice has made necessary to your comfort —Family Doctor

Things Borrowed

Along with the habit to pronounce people's names correctly to reply promptly to notes and the like another mark of the regard for the rights of others which indicates inherent refinement is the practice of returning borrowed articles In cities and large communities there is comparatively little of the kitchen borrowing that has come to be proverbial in stories but there are few households which do not find a fairly good list of borrowed articles accumulated in the course of the year, a book from this friend, an umbrella from that a written recipe from another, a bit of fancy work as a model from another, and so on The use which the borrower has for the loaned articles is temporary It is therefore purely a selfish laziness which retains them after such use from the owner who may be in positive and continuous need of the thing —Exchange

To Take Out Ink Quickly.

Clerks and others who write in their shirt sleeves are often annoyed by getting their immaculate linen ink stained If the stain is allowed to remain until the garment reaches the laundry the process of washing will produce an indelible brown mark but for a few cents any writer can guard against annoyance and loss of this kind, for a little chlorinated soda will remove every suspicion of ink stain almost instantaneously It is only necessary to rub the soda in and then rinse or wash it out with a few drops of water and all trace of the ink is gone But the remedy must be applied immediately after the accident to be effective

Breaking a Custom

At one time if a Japanese girl married a foreigner she was instantly decapitated A Portuguese gentleman was probably the first European to marry a daughter of the land of the chrysanthemum with impunity He went there years ago and fell in love with a Japanese girl Her parents warned her of the fatal consequences of marrying him but she persisted with the result that the mikado decided that she must be beheaded However after a correspondence of over five years duration between the Portuguese and Japanese governments she was permitted to live

Human Bait For Leeches

In meridional Russia and especially in the innumerable ponds of the basin of the Don and Donetz rivers the inhabitants gain a remunerative livelihood, though dangerous and disagreeable in leech fishing Bare legged they tramp about the water and leeches fix themselves upon the bare flesh As soon as the fishers reach terra firma they remove the flabby animals and deposit them in an earthen vessel It is a painful and weakening operation and sometimes even fatal

LANGDONDALE PA, Jan 17, 1902

G W Lockard says —In September, 1900 I was caught in a runaway while driving a colt which caused what the doctors called clogged paralysis in my left limbs from which I have had no use of my arm or leg since I spent near eight months in hospital treatment and since have been using Chamberlain's Cream Balm Liniment which has given me more relief than the hospital treatment I also had rheumatism in my right arm, which it completely cured I can heartily recommend the liniment to others as the best to all suffering, as I never found any thing to equal it

LIBRARY HOSPITALS.

A Quiet Corner Where Maimed and Aged Books Are Doctored

In every up to date public library there is a quiet corner used as a book hospital where worn aged and maimed volumes are sent for treatment and often surgical operations The women and children of the library—that is the novels and juveniles—are found in the hospital the most frequently and often they are beyond cure But the skillful library worker has all sorts of devices for making broken down books appear fresh and new again and often a remarkable cure is effected

If a book were cast aside the minute its back was broken or were not given proper treatment when a leaf became loose the library would soon find itself doubling expenses for duplicates of old volumes and with little money for new works Careful treatment, on the other hand will add years to the life of a book and will materially lessen the expenses of a public library

This hospital is fitted up in a very simple manner There are shelves upon which the invalid books are placed until treatment can be given them Then there are other shelves where they are placed to convalesce and sometimes to regain consciousness after a serious surgical operation There are operating tables and neat little boxes in which there are rolls of blue percale and yards of white percale sheets of pin ... paper long strips of thin but fine quality paper narrow rolls of gummed paper, bundles of glass cloth balls of string sandpaper coarse thread and white mull

In snug little compartments is the medicine consisting of glue and paste The surgical instruments in a little case consist of a pair of forceps a small wooden paddle a thin wooden board and papers of needles Then there is an instrument of torture—a heavy press which is generally applied at the close of an operation

There are all sorts of complaints among the books and the most prevalent is the broken back This comes from the book assuming an unhealthful position such as leaning up lazily against other books resting on its front edges or lying flat on its side A vigorous use of paste and glue often cures this complaint but in some cases a delicate operation is resorted to

Then the cover is stripped entirely off the back and the title is carefully cut out Next the paper back of the book is peeled off A piece of glass cloth is then applied and firmly glued into its place The old cover with the exception of the title is pasted on again and then the book is tied up with strings and left on the shelf to recover a little When strong enough a black percale back is carefully fitted over the old back and the old title is pasted on the outside

Small fingers injure the complexion of the books greatly and sandpaper is used a great deal on juvenile fiction invalids The edges of the book are rubbed with this rough paper taking off the dirt and the yellow appearance Rough edges of leaves are frequent also in this branch of literature These leaves are carefully trimmed off and a thin strip of nice quality paper is pasted on to make a clean, regular edge

'Butting is a method of operating that is not used by all book surgeons This consists in placing with the wooden paddle a thin line of glue on the edges of a torn leaf and then pressing them tightly together It has been demonstrated thoroughly that this butting holds the torn leaf just as firmly as and is much more satisfactory than the old method of pasting gummed transparent paper over the torn places

The loose leaves are a frequent source of annoyance to the book doctors The remedy for these bothersome leaves is a hinge of percale or paper which holds the unruly page in place after the heavy press has been brought to bear on the book In such cases the thin board is always used to slip into the volume so that it will keep its shape properly

The operation which requires the most skill is the sewing of the signature or division of a book back into place The needle and coarse thread are pushed in and out of the holes in the signature and the binding and when it becomes awkward to use the fingers the slender forceps are used to draw the needle in and out

It is part of the work of every public library employe to take a hand in the hospital department and ingenuity supplies means to remedy every complaint that is conjured up by even the most erratic book The book doctor trusts wholly to her own wit and skillful fingers to effect a cure and there are few cases that are hopeless —New York Mail and Express

A J Cottingham went to Washington County Ark to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine Mr Cottingham resides at Lockland Ark This remedy is for sale by all druggists

"The machine that does it right." : :

The above illustration represents The Schau Cold Set Tire Setter ready for operation

This famous machine is a marvel in simplicity of construction and in the wonderful result produced—performing the work heretofore done by the blacksmith—doing it quicker cheaper and better

The great utility of this machine consists in the saving of time labor and expense and we set forth the following advantages over the old way of setting tires

1 No fuel is required
2 No tires are taken off
3 No bolts are taken out and thrown away
4 Any degree of dish can be put in the wheel
5 ... tires can be set in one half hour's ... time
6 No burning or marring of felloe
7 No spoiling of wheels by welding the tires too short
8 It does far neater work than can be done by taking the tire off
9 No boring of the felloe for new bolt holes

Dear Sir Rockland Maine is a sea coast town hard place for paint About seventeen years ago Farrand Spear & Co Rockland began with Devoe The first sale was to paint the Farrington residence, well known there

Mr Farrand says the house appears from the street to be well painted now, and has never been repainted

We should like to know more definitely about a job of paint that has lasted seventeen years on a sea side house It is the longest time we have had a report on

Lead and oil lasts three years—a first rate job—and nobody says it lasts longer We are content to say that Devoe lead and zinc lasts twice as long but we know of houses innumerable on which our paint has exceeded six years

Everett has been able to boast of having a baseball team that could defeat any team that would come on their ground This rumor reached our little valley and enthused some of our boys so much that like Josiah Allen they could not stand it so they undertook to try the boys from the big town themselves Though our boys have not been in practice, it looked very much to day as if the town boys were in the same trouble when the score resulted 10 to 11 in favor of Everett This made the boys from Everett open their eyes and wonder what would become of their reputation as ball players if the boys from the country would practise before they play the next game ANTONIO

WHAT would you do, if you were a big merchant, and had more stock on hand than you could sell this season? Would you keep your money tied up until next year—let the stock get rusty—let your salesmen get tired of showing it—get tired of it yourself—start next season with a half new stock? Or would you say "I've made some money on Spring and Summer goods, I'll lose a little now, get my money back bring in some people who haven't been buying of me, make them happy, and when they come next year, show them something they have never seen before here or anywhere else? You've answered our question We're after you—not for to-day alone, but for as long as you live Here are some prices that we believe will move this stock for us Get your share

Summer Jewelry.

The summer girl needs more jewelry than the winter girl

When one is wearing thin, dainty dresses, or shirtwaists, there are ribbons to fasten, and cuffs to pin, and belts to look after that don't enter into the question at all during the cold wintry months

All the silver things the summer girl needs are here Sash pins, belt buckles, cuff buttons, stock pins, ribbon pins, chain bracelets, barrettes, Chatelaine bags, etc

Men's Summer Shirts at 50c.

Plenty of styles and sizes—men's sizes and boys sizes Combinations of white with colors Men's Negligee shirts at 50c are in white and fancy styles One line in particular is made with a white Madras that goes into some dollar shirts—though, of course the latter are the better made and finished But at 50c they win out

White Madras shirts at $1 that will compare favorably with the usual $1 50 sort in quality pattern or pleated bosoms detached cuffs The showing at $1 is exceedingly varied and satisfactory
